

Taking Care Of Business

OPENING QUESTIONS:

What's the hardest or most exciting thing about attempting to share your faith where you work?

Connecting to the Weekend

As we're discovering throughout this series, the requirements for a Christian in the marketplace go beyond the typical employee responsibilities. For example, a Christian worker should be someone who works as unto the Lord. He or she should be someone who stands on conviction. Not to mention, he or she should be faithful, punctual, and proficient.

But above all, Christians are to be a light to the world. As we're about to see, light is designed to shine in the darkness.

And for many Christians, the workplace is the best example of a dark place where light needs to be shining.

But what exactly does it look like for the light to shine at work? Well, in this session we'll examine the origins of Jesus' instructions to be the light of the world. And we'll examine some of the practical ways you can help point your coworkers toward the light of Christ.

DISCUSS THE FOLLOWING KEY MESSAGE POINTS :

1. Christians are to be the light to the world
2. Character is the beginning of developing yourself as a light
3. Information is a tool for sharing light
4. Invitations make it easier to be a light

Key Verses:

"You are the light of the world. A city on a hill cannot be hidden. Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on its stand, and it gives light to everyone in the house. In the same way, let your light shine before men, that they may see your good deeds and praise your Father in heaven."
Matthew 5:14-16 (NIV)
